PRICE FIVE CENTS

B.C. SPENDING $14,000,000 A YEAR ON LIQUOR

Government's Net Profits Increasing; Now Stand at 27 Per Cent

Beer Parlor Business Running Into Millions; City's Revenue Rising

Sales of liquor in British Columbia Government stores during the six months ending March 31 last totaled $6,610,943, according to official figures issued at the Attorney-General's Department today.

These figures show clearly:

(1) This Province is spending legally about $14,000,000 a year for liquor.

(2) The Government's liquor business returned net profit of $1,789,558, or just about twenty-seven per cent, in the six months ending March 31 last, as against just under twenty-three per cent in the previous six months. The net profit is compared with gross sales is rising steadily.

(3) Despite the much-discussed drinking of liquor by United States tourists, total Government sales show an increase of only about $200,000 in the Summer period over the Winter period, an almost negligible factor in the whole business. Heavy Christmas celebrations almost balance the drinking of the tourist season.

(4) Sale of beer is growing into business involving the expenditure of a great deal more than $2,000,000 a year, but the actual amount spent in this way cannot be traced from official figures. Beer licenses are being here from the Government at the rate of $200,000 every six months, or nearly $2,000,000 a year, but what they are selling it for no one knows accurately.

LARGE BEER TRADE

Probably the most striking figure is that showing total wet sales for the last year. Altogether the Government liquor stores took in $13,428,247 in the twelve months ending March 31 last, but this does not represent by any means the entire expenditure on liquor. It does not even represent the legal expenditure as it includes under the heading of beer only the amount purchased in bottles at Government stores and the amount paid by beer parlors to the Government for their supplies. The retail price of beer sold in beer parlors is not shown and is not known officially. In the last six months the Government received $914,605 from beer licenses who sold the beer to parlors, and the Government prices. Add the gross profits of the beer parlors to the $13,428,247 received by the Government and the total legal expenditure on liquor would be shown to be about $15,000,000 a year and selling at profits.

BEER REVENUE CHARGE

CAPONE FACES MURDER CHARGE IN CHICAGO NOW

ELECTION SCANDALS IN UNITED STATES

About 130 Poll Officials Indicted in Illinois; Campaign Funds Totaled $623,000

Chicago, July 28.—True bills naming more than a score of election officials are reported to have been voted by the second special grand jury to investigate irregularities in connection with the April primary elections in Illinois. More than 100 election officials previously had been named in indictments and thousands of illegal votes had been thrown out.

Chicago, July 28.—Senator William H. McKinley's unsuccessful campaign for re-election in the recent Illinois primary election cost him personally $250,000, it was disclosed today before the Senate campaign fund inquiry committee.

This compares with the $253,000 Allen F. Moore has testified was the total expended on behalf of Frank L. Smith, who lost to McKinley. The total expenditure in the contest for the Senate developed during the two days of the inquiry here is $623,000.

PANDORA AVENUE DEVELOPMENT IS RELEASED BY CITY

$100,000 Project to be Put in Motion by Start at Western End of Gap

Council Earmarks $5,000 For First Stages of Work to be Done This Year

First steps in the improvement of Pandora Avenue, from Cook Street east to the junction at Fort Street, at a total cost of $100,000 will be taken this year, according to a city council decision made Monday.

The full development plan, when completed, will give a first class roadway east-west through the city, stretching from the water at the Inner Harbor to the water at Oak Bay. The cost of the present project is estimated to be between $50,000 and $100,000, though only a portion of the full programme can be completed this year.

The council's provision authorizing a start on the work is worded as follows: "That the sum of $5,000 be set aside from the contingent fund for the purpose of widening, grading and improving Pandora Avenue from Fernwood Avenue to Harrison Street."

The office of the city engineer this morning details of the first stage of the project were learned. The roadway from Fernwood to Harrison will be levelled to its proper grading for the full width, and for a length of 370 feet in this section. The expenditure on this project is estimated at $125,000.

AMEE McPHERSON ISSUES STATEMENT

Los Angeles Evangelist Refuses "to be Slaughtered Financially or Morally"

Los Angeles, July 28.—Almee Semple McPheron, evangelist, central figure of a disappearance case which has attracted nation-wide attention, today issued a statement in which she declared that she was not a victim of a conspiracy to "credit her work and the work of her husband, the Angelus Temple."

The evangelist expressed indignation over the activities of Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and Assistant District Attorney Joe Ryan of Los Angeles in Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, an art colony, asserting that up to date all the "evidence these officials have unearthed proved inconclusive."

New York, July 28.—Held on a charge of murder at Santa Ana, California, Philip A. Goodwin, who described himself as a priest in the American Catholic Church, was remanded to the Tombs today by Judge Smith on a writ of habeas corpus.

URGES TOURISTS FROM U.S. AVOID CLASHES ABROAD

President Coolidge

Paul Smith's N.Y., July 28.—President Coolidge hopes United States citizens abroad will make allowances for conditions in the foreign countries they are visiting and will not indulge in any unwarranted criticism or any recriminations.

The position of the President was made clear in the matter at the Summer executive office without however, any direct reference being made to the demonstrations that have been made against United States tourists in France.

Doubt was expressed in behalf of the President whether too much attention need be paid to the situation that has been reflected in recent press reports from Europe. The desire of the United States, it was said, was to maintain friendly relations with all countries and the belief was expressed that the attitude of irresponsible persons of the United States or foreign countries should not be treated too seriously.

STEAMSHIP AIDED

New York, July 28.—Nassau in the Bahamas Islands was badly wrecked by a hurricane, according to a message received by the United States Navy here today from the steamship.

FOREST FIRE NEAR DONALD, B.C., GROWS

Crews of Men Increased, But Flames Rage Uncontrolled, Say Reports

Revelstoke, July 28.—The forest fire near Donald, B.C., is reported to be spreading rapidly in a southerly direction and all efforts to bring the flames under control have failed.

The new outbreak at Leacholl is still burning freely and is causing grave apprehension.

The firefighting crews have been augmented and every effort is being made to check the advance of the fire. Very little information from the danger zone is filtering through.

FIRE IN U.S.

Missoula, Mont., July 28.—With wind and lightning hampering their efforts, firefighters are making little headway in checking the flames that have consumed large stands of timber in national forests of Montana, Idaho and Washington.

Numerous fires are burning in the vicinity of Olney, near Columbia Falls, and fifty men left here to combat the fire.

All the fires were started by an electrical storm.

At Hay Creek, in the same section, a heavy wind pushed the fire into the Glacier National Park in five places and unofficial reports say 5,000 acres have been burned over.

Forest headquarters deny any lives have been lost, although they report three ranches burned out and two firefighters injured.

Edmonton, July 28.—Weary men and weary horses stung to renewed activity by news of another fierce forest fire at Hase Lake, forty miles north of the blaze they had been battling in the White Court area for the past three weeks, are making their way through the almost impenetrable wilderness in an effort to cope with the new outbreak.

Reinforcements of fire fighters are being rushed to the scene.

MEIGHEN MAKES MENTION OF "WHITE FLAG OF SECESSION"

New Glasgow, N.S., July 28.—"Let us adopt a Canada-first policy and our future will be even more glorious than that of the United States," said Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, head of the new Conservative Government of Canada, during a Federal election campaign speech here last night.

"It is essential for us in this Dominion, it is vital, it is a matter of life and death, that we get to the stature where we can decide on points of policy, on principles of policy, in the light of what we determine best for the whole Dominion considered as one. If we are not able to do that as a people then the sooner we raise the white flag of secession the better."

RUM CONFESSION TO FOLLOW DEATHS

Voelker to Tell Buffalo Police How Wood Alcohol Distributed Thirty-seven Deaths

Ten Men Under Arrest in Buffalo Region and Southern Ontario

Buffalo, N.Y., July 28.—Federal agents and police today made six more arrests in the Niagara frontier rum liquor case, the death toll in which stands at thirty-seven.

The action followed the statement of authorities that James C. Voelker, alleged leader of the distributing gang, stood ready to make a full confession, naming those higher up in the wood alcohol traffic.

Those under arrest include Carl Voelker, father of the man held to answer a charge of first degree murder. The elder Voelker is held on a manslaughter charge. Of the other prisoners, four are Buffalo moonshiners and handlers and the fifth a soft drink parlor owner, who is accused of conspiracy to violate the prohibition act.

ANOTHER VICTIM

Roy Oakley, twenty-eight, was taken from an apartment house in Lockport, N.Y., last night and unconscious and suffering from alcoholic poisoning. At the city hospital it was found he had been drinking.

Voelker, the so-called Buffalo king of the alcohol ring, was indicted by a federal grand jury in 1923 on a charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition law in connection with the theft from freight cars in the New York Centre of alcohol.

Two scores of defendants who were indicted with him in 1923, several were sent to the Atlantic penitentiary for varying terms.

TORONTO DEATH

Toronto, July 28.—With the death today of Mrs. Irene Coleman, aged thirty-five, the fourth person to die in Toronto from that cause.

Mrs. Coleman was the fourth person to die in Toronto from that cause.

Police here believe that the four deaths are the result of alcoholic poisoning, bringing the number of victims in Ontario in the last few days up to eighteen.

The solution of the whole mystery rests in the origin of the alcohol which Romeo received and which he passed along the line to the consumers.

It is said that the fourth person to die in Toronto from that cause.

ARRESTS IN ONTARIO

Toronto, July 28.—Startling developments in connection with the wave of alcoholic poisoning which has been sweeping Ontario since the arrest of the Ontario Provincial Police in Hamilton of Edward Miller and Joseph Romeo, in addition to that of Bert O'Angelo, the police feel the reckoning with the primary link with the bootlegging chain is not far distant.

The solution of the whole mystery rests in the origin of the alcohol which Romeo received and which he passed along the line to the consumers.

It is said that the fourth person to die in Toronto from that cause.

Men Returning to Spokane on Train Lost $1,000 to Bandits

Spokane, July 28.—Forest fire fighters who returned here today from Sand Point, Idaho, where they had been fighting the flames, reported to the police they were robbed of more than $1,000 by two bandits who held them up on a freight train last night.

Sums ranging from $5 to $75 were taken from the men. The known victims number thirteen, but it is believed probable several others, whose legs had not been reported, also were robbed.

After they had robbed the firefighters the bandits bolted the doors of the freight cars in which they were riding and their captives were not released until the train reached Rathdrum, Idaho, where trainmen heard their calls for help.

Poverty-stricken Ohio City Is Losing Its Chief Services

Warren, Ohio, July 28.—Financially embarrassed to the point of dire poverty, the city of Warren, with its population of forty thousand, by Saturday night will find itself without a police department, reduced to one fire station and faced with a public subscription to buy tires for one of the fire trucks.

By an emergency which the city council passed last night the police force of sixteen men will go out of existence tomorrow. As it is, the policemen and firemen have received no pay for two months.

The growth of the city from 10,000 in 1910 to 40,000 in 1926 without a corresponding increase in revenue is blamed for the present situation.

MEXICO IS TO HAVE CHURCH COMMITTEES

Government Orders Mayors of Towns Appoint Groups to Control Edifices

Aged Archbishop of Mexico Collapsed During Service in Cathedral

Mexico City, July 28.—The Government of Mexico today issued an order refusing to permit Roman Catholic priests, when they cease to function at midnight Saturday, to turn over their churches to committees of Catholic laymen appointed by them for each church.

Instead the Government ordered that the churches stay in charge of the committees appointed by the mayors of the towns and cities.

San Francisco, July 28.—Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco today sent out a pastoral letter, urging all Catholics to pray earnestly for a quick ending of the present religious differences in Mexico, and warning August 1 as a day of special prayer. The letter was sent in accordance with the expressed desire of the Mexican people.

DEATH INVESTIGATED

Mexico City, July 28.—Government officials today were investigating reports from Aguas Calientes of the first death by violence as an outgrowth of the religious situation in Mexico.

Changes in the motor tariff, I think, are particularly interesting to the people of this Province, who are heavy buyers of automobiles, and I think the people are entitled to know the policy in that regard are thoroughly understood.

D. DONAGHY MAY OPPOSE STEVENS

Former North Vancouver M.P. Mentioned as Candidate in Centre Vancouver

Vancouver, July 28.—Dugald Donaghy, late Liberal M.P. for Vancouver North, who was a member of the customs committee, in a strong possibility as Liberal candidate in Vancouver Centre to oppose Hon. H. H. Stevens, it was learned today.

Several weeks ago Mr. Donaghy announced he would not run again in North Vancouver as this business demanded his entire attention. Liberal supporters, however, believe Mr. Donaghy will be offered the nomination for Vancouver Centre on Friday night, and that he will accept.

BURROU NOMINATION

Owing to pressure of business, Alderman H. E. Almond announced today he would not permit his name to go before the Burrard Federal Liberal nomination convention to-night.

It is likely the names of Thomas J. Kearney, George M. Murray and Arthur McDuffee, and possibly that of W. F. Hanbury will go before the convention.

MCGEER NOT CANDIDATE

Vancouver, July 28.—Before leaving for the north to press British Columbia's claim for equalized freight rates at the Railway Commission's sitting in Prince Rupert, G. G. McGeer, K.C., repeated his declaration that he would not be a candidate in the present Federal election campaign.

CUSTOMS INQUIRY SESSIONS SOON

Ottawa, July 28.—(Canadian Press)—Sir Francois Lemieux, Judicial Commissioner appointed to continue the investigation of the Department of Customs, will open his inquiry in Halifax between August 16 and 20. It was announced here today.

R. L. Calder, K.C., who acted as counsel for the Commons committee which investigated the Customs Department last session, will again be counsel.

BEER VOTE IN ALBERTA TOWN

Edmonton, July 28.—Hardisty will be the next town in Alberta to try a local option contest. It petitioned the Government for plebiscite and the petition has been declared by the Attorney-General's Department to be in order. A vote will be taken on a date to be fixed, probably in September.

There has been a beer parlor license in Hardisty since the beginning of the liquor control system in the province, but the statutory two years having now run out, an effort is to be made to get it voted out by the townspeople.

LIBERALS WILL CONTROL NEXT HOUSE OF COMMONS

HON. J. H. KING FORECASTS

Robb Budget Stands Out Clearly as Dominant Factor in Present Election Says Minister of Public Works in Mackenzie King Government; Conservatives Reached Complete Maximum Strength in House of Commons.

"The Liberal Party unquestionably will control the next House of Commons," Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works and representative of British Columbia in the Mackenzie King Government, declared on his arrival here today after a tour across Canada.

"The Conservative Party reached its complete maximum strength in the last election and cannot secure again its representation in the last Parliament," Dr. King affirmed. "On the other hand, the Liberal Party is absolutely assured of important gains. In British Columbia, too, we shall do better this time than we did before when three-cornered fights in several ridings cut down our representation."

MEIGHEN'S PLAN DECLARED FAILURE

King Says Conservative Chief Cannot Deceive People September 14

Main Issues Before Electors Are Robb Budget and Constitutional Question

Sarnia, July 28.—"To put it simply, Mr. Meighen tried to put it over the Governor-General and succeeded. Then he tried to put it over Parliament and again succeeded. Now he is trying to put it over the people and he will not succeed," said Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, in the course of the speech here with which he last night opened his Federal general election campaign tour of southern Ontario.

"The constitutional issue is not of my choosing," declared Mr. King.

ELECTION PLAN

Had the Governor-General granted dissolution to the Liberal Government, an appeal to the country would have been made on the Robb budget. That budget, with its tariff changes and its reductions in taxation, is still before the people."

Hours of Labor Are Subject of Inquiry

Edmonton, July 28.—An inquiry into the likely effect of limiting the hours of labor in certain industries throughout the province is to be made by a commission just appointed by the Alberta Government. The members of the commission are A.
A. Carpenter, chairman of the Public Utilities Board and the Public Wage Board; Norman Hyndley of the P. Burns and Company and an active member of the Calgary Board of Trade, and Elmer E. Roper, editor of The Alberta Labor News and secretary of the Alberta Federation of Labor.

ALBERTA MINERS ASK ARBITRATION

Edmonton, July 28.—Application has been made to the labor branch of the Alberta Government by the coal miners' union of Blairmore for the appointment of a board under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.

A dispute in regard to wages in the local coal mining camps is understood to be the reason for this request, which will be dealt with by the Government at once. Three members constitute these boards as a rule and that number will probably be appointed in the present case.

That the Marland oil interests of

An agreement has been reached by

Company will prospect for oil on Hudson's Bay land in certain specified areas, notably the Wainwright area. J. P. Morgan, it is reported, is one of the financial forces behind the Marland Oil Company in the United States.

The Hudson's Bay Company has also given concessions to the Imperial Oil Company. It owns land in every oil field or prospective oil

FOUR VESSELS DOCKED AT VICTORIA THIS MORNING

Canadian Winner Docked at 7 o'clock From Antwerp and London to be Followed by Ms. Loch Katrine, Yokohama Maru and Canadian Coaster; All Discharged Cargo Here.

Three deep-sea vessels and one coastwise steamship docked at Victoria this morning. Ss. Canadian Winner of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine led the vanguard arriving here at 7 o'clock from Antwerp and London via Seattle. At 10.15 o'clock the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's big motorship Loch Katrine berthed at Pier 1 from London and Continental ports via San Francisco and way ports. Half an hour later the Yokohama Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line tied up at Pier 2, inbound from the Far East. The last vessel to arrive was the steamship Canadian Coaster, of the C.G.M.M., operated in the coastwise trade between Victoria, Vancouver and California, which docked at Ogden Point about 11.30 o'clock from San Francisco.

For Victoria the Canadian Winner had approximately 500 tons of iron from Antwerp. After discharging the vessel will proceed to Vancouver. At Seattle the Winner unloaded close to 2,000 tons of cement from Antwerp.

Capt. Shillito of the Loch Katrine reported a smooth passage out from the Old Country. The motorship put off 160 tons of general cargo here.
For Vancouver the Loch Katrine had approximately 400 tons of freight.

The motor vessel had two passengers aboard, one of which disembarked here, the other being routed through to Vancouver.

The Loch Katrine sailed shortly after 1 o'clock for Vancouver.
With a fine list of passengers and a heavy consignment of freight at Yokohama Maru, Capt. Okamoto docked at Pier 2 at 10.45 o'clock. The skipper stated that the long voyage was made in real Summer seas.

The Japanese liner brought a total of thirty-seven passengers including sixteen first class and twenty-one third class. Seven third class travelers debarked here the remainder continuing onto Seattle.

In cargo the Yokohama had 135 tons for discharge at this port.
Seattle's freight amounted to 87 tons including 1911 bales of raw silk and two bales of the manufactured product.

Forty bags of mail were put off here including nine for Eddie Hubbard the air pilot. For Seattle the Yokohama had 155 sacks of mail.

The Yokohama Maru sailed at 1 o'clock for Seattle.
With general cargo for discharge
the C.G.M.M. freighter Canadian Coaster tied up at Ogden Point at 11.30 o'clock. After putting off cargo the vessel will proceed to the Mainland.

"The Liberal leader said those were the two features of paramount importance in the present campaign.
The real issues are the Robb budget and all that it stands for in the matter of good administration and the great constitutional question which raises the whole question of our place as a nation with the power to govern ourselves," declared Mr. King.
Mr. King reviewed the circumstances under which the last Parliament had met. After the election the Governor-General had been advised to let Parliament meet and decide who had the right to carry on.

M. P.'s DECIDED

"I did not make a single speech or a single appointment until the people's representatives had decided not to give their support to Mr.
Meighen, but to continue in office
the Government I had the honor to head," he said. "That was truly democratic government."
The Government had sought a six-week adjournment and had to apply closure because of Tory obstruction. The Government had contested and carried all its by-elections.

It had been said the last Government had resigned to avoid a vote of censure.
"Nothing could be farther from the truth," declared Mr. King.
"If I had been afraid of a vote of censure, would I have asked for a dissolution and a general election?"
Would I have said that now that things were so bad I needed a general election? asked Mr. King.

HIS RIGHT

"But even if a vote of censure had been carried, I believe I still would have been entitled to a dissolution," he said.
Mr. King maintained that the relationship of the Prime Minister to the Governor-General should be the same as between Prime Minister of Great Britain and King.

"That is the issue so far as the Governor-General is concerned. Lord Byng as a person has nothing to do with the matter. It is a question of whether Canada is a colony or a self-governing dominion," said Mr.
King.

MEIGHEN AND WAR

"Mr. Meighen said in Hamilton and again in Bagot that if war should come to the forefront he intended to call Parliament and appeal to the people while war was on," said the Liberal leader. "I think that is wrong.
It is for Parliament to decide these matters. I cannot see how he can defend such a course. How could he dissolve Parliament if he should be in the position as in and he went to a Governor-General who said: 'I will settle this question.'"

"Do you see where he would get to by a departure from the rules and customs of Parliament?"

CUSTOMS REPORT

Mr. King next dealt with the customs inquiry. Holding a copy of the Duncan report in his hand, he declared: "Everything in this is public. It has been printed for two months. If there were vile things concealed, let those making the charges state them in the open."

"Everything you are told about this matter to-day was taken from information gathered by the Customs ministry. The Government got the information. Disillusion was dismissed. It was through a detective working with Mr. Duncan that Mr. Stevens got his information."

The report of the committee had been unanimous and did not involve censure, continued the speaker.

FULL INQUIRY

His full customs situation would be "probed to the very bottom" if the Liberal Party was returned and a commission of three judges would investigate the whole problem from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Mr. Stevens, Minister of Customs, had announced Mounted Policemen had been strung along the border.
"Yet we read that thirteen people have died as a result of drinking poisoned liquor smuggled into this country," said Mr. King. "I am not going to say Mr. Meighen's administration is responsible, but he says
I was responsible for allowing diseased prison-made clothes to enter Canada from the United States. That only shows how hard it is for any government to solve the smuggling problem. Smuggling took place in Quebec with the Ferguson Government in office."

"Shall we make a new issue in the campaign on liquor smuggling? If I made that kind of an appeal it would be similar to the present Conservative campaign," Mr. King said.

Montreal, July 28.—If the Conservatives continue to harp on the customs revelations and try to ignore great issues in Canada, the Liberal will take counter-measures and reveal scandals which will vastly overshadow "the peccadilloes of the recent customs inquiry," Hon. P. J. A.
Cardin declared here last night.

The former Minister of Marine and Fisheries, speaking at an open-air meeting in favor of Dr. A. A.
Denise, former M.P. for the St. Denis division and present candidate, declared the "peccadilloes" discovered during the customs inquiry were very small compared with the enormous scandals now asleep under the dust of forgetfulness.

PARIS FASHION LETTER

Parasols! Paris! And Germaine!

The parasols that captured Germaine. Below, the painted pink taffeta and, right, the square one of white loops she intends for herself. Above and left, two views of the scalloped shade of periwinkle blue, destined for Marie.

Paris, July 24 (By Mail).—
Dearest Madeline:
I have just returned from one of those orgies of buying which always cause father to foresee financial ruin.
What annoys him so much is that he was the cause of it all.

As you know, my pere is very fond of racing. He took us recently to the Grand Prix, a steeplechase, one of the outstanding social and sartorial events of the racing week.

The fashion parade kept my mind
so much distracted from the horses that I lost several hundred francs to Aunt Louise, who is wonderfully lucky at all games of chance. But Jimmy lost many more to father, so father did not mind paying my indebtedness.

I was enchanted by the lovely new costumes and hats, and most of all by the lovely parasols, which were greatly in evidence for the first time
I can remember.

To-day, I started out to buy one for myself and came back with four.
One I shall give mother, and one I shall give to my friend Marie, for her birthday, the other two I shall carry with great delight.

One is of the most lovely shade of pink taffeta, with a border of white on which are painted most exquisitely flowers of pink, white and deeper shades of rose. The lining is a deeper shade of pink—and what a lovely glow it does lend to one's features!
I fear I must keep this one, since it is necessary for me to look my best these days.

The one I bought for mother is in black taffeta, with pleatings of rose colored silk, and a lovely carved ivory handle. It also has a lining of the rose colored silk, and does right by mother's fate.

For Marie, who is to be married this Fall, I purchased a frivolous affair of periwinkle blue, composed of many scalloped ruffles, each piped with the most edible looking rose colored jamme velvet. I know, and her dance, who is more than twenty years her senior, will realize when he sees her carry it, what a treasure of youth and beauty Marie is. I am sure Marie does not love M. Roulan—she is in love with a poor musician, but her people lost nearly everything in the war, and Marie must think of her family as well as herself.

My other parasol is square in shape, of white taffeta with many loose loops of the taffeta wound into little cords. It has a bright red handle that keeps it from being too ethereal looking to match my personality.

Except for the fact that Jacques is due to return sooner than he expected, everything is going beautifully. Jimmy is devoted to itself and anticipates my every wish. If all men are so generous and lavish you girls must live in a whirl of pleasure all the time. My parents are overcoming their prejudice against him, and are becoming very friendly. I suspect my father and mother are being a bit awed by the large fortune he represents. And yet there are times I long for Jacques—apparently
I shall never learn my own mind.
Do write and tell me about your trip.
Germaine.

Prestige and Profit

Goods advertised in newspapers are superior to non-advertised goods!

This is the conclusion of a Better Business Bureau that has been checking up newspaper advertising in an Eastern city.

Careful comparisons were made of advertised goods and similar lines that were not advertised.

In 95% of the cases, the Better Business Bureau reports, the advertised articles were superior in quality to the non-advertised articles.

Good news for newspaper readers—of course,
but most of them know it by experience.
How about the national advertiser who is seeking that elusive thing called "prestige?"

A manufacturer's brands are in the best company when they are in the advertising columns of the daily newspaper.

And since newspaper advertising sells goods, newspaper advertisers combine prestige with profit.

LIQUOR RAIDS ARE MADE IN MANITOBA

Several Men Arrested; Three Large Stills Seized by Police

Winnipeg, July 28.—Several men are under arrest and three enormous stills have been seized by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in their drive against the manufacture of illicit liquor in this Province.

The drive commenced last Friday, when a still was seized forty miles east of Winnipeg and the latest capture was made near Melrose, twenty-eight miles east of here. The Melrose still was found on the main floor of a house. It had triple refineries and a big boiler with a capacity of 120 gallons. Coke was used for fuel to ensure no smoke. Twenty-seven barrels of mash containing 1,080 gallons of spirits, were found, as well as forty gallons of "moonshine."

The occupants, warned of the constables' approach, escaped.

AUSTRALIAN LEADERS DEBATE SUBJECTS FOR EMPIRE CONFERENCE

Melbourne, Australia, July 25 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Following Premier S. M. Bruce's recent denunciation of any attempt being made by the League of Nations to interfere in questions such as migration, tariffs and distribution of raw materials, Matthew Charlton, Labor leader, moved a resolution in the House of Representatives yesterday that the Australian delegates to the forthcoming Imperial Conference should vigorously oppose any attempt to include in the program Economic Conference proposed. The Labor leader also expressed disapproval of the delay in the convening of the world disarmament conference. Charlton said the fact was that the nations were arming themselves although they had been talking disarmament for the last seven years. "This," he thought, "does not indicate the League's ability in bringing about disarmament."

TORIES ASKED FOR PROGRESSIVES' AID

Forke Says Meighen's Followers Were Ready to Give Promises

Declares Course of Governor-General Regarding Dissolution Was Error

Brandon, Man., July 28.—The Progressives were approached by both Conservatives and Liberals almost continuously during the last session, declared Robert Forke, former leader of the Progressives in the House of Commons and nominee of the party in the constituency of Brandon for the forthcoming Federal general election, in addressing a public meeting here last night.

Mr. Forke dealt at length with the developments of Ottawa during the last session of Parliament, and declared offers of "divers kinds," including the Conservatives, stating that if the Progressives would give that party their support the Government would run its full course.

The offer, said Mr. Forke, was given serious consideration. At one time the Progressives took a straw vote on whether they would support the Conservatives or the Liberals, and the vote was twelve to ten in favor of the former. He was at a loss as to why the vote had gone that way, unless "it was the knowledge that it was not a binding vote." Later another vote was taken, and all except five members supported the Liberals' legislative programme. The Liberal Government came through with the legislation promised," Mr. Forke added. "Our agreement with them was carried out."

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE

Discussing the constitutional question, Mr. Forke declared: "I know Mr. Meighen never would have been Premier if the circumstances had been known. The Governor-General constituted himself a judge between Mr. King and Mr. Meighen in granting dissolution to the latter after having declined it to the former."

TARIFF QUESTION

Mr. Forke dealt with the customs inquiry and with the tariff question. "Mr. Meighen will come out West, but will not say much about the tariff, or about raising the tariff," he predicted.

Mr. Forke emphasized his stand on the tariff question. It was impossible for a country to be prosperous by building up tariff walls," he said.

"I know I have done my duty, and I am not here to apologize for my actions at Ottawa during the last session," declared the former leader in a brief address at a nominating meeting during the day.

GIVEN NOMINATION

Mr. Forke, who represented the Brandon constituency in the last House, was again nominated yesterday in political circles it was declared he would receive the endorsement of the local Liberals at a meeting this afternoon. In his address, Mr. Forke emphasized the necessity for co-operation between the Liberals and Progressives. "Without the aid and support of the Liberals," he said, "we can not win this constituency of Brandon. I don't care what name I go to Ottawa under, my vote and my actions will be just the same."

U.S. MAN IS HELD IN MOSCOW PRISON

A. Kohman of Jamaica, N.Y., Was Sentenced Because of Commercial Jealousy

New York, July 28.—A letter written in indelible ink on a pocket handkerchief, smuggled from the Russian prison of Butyrky, in Moscow, has been received here telling of the arrest of A. Kohman of Jamaica, N.Y., who said he had been sentenced to three years' imprisonment as a result of commercial jealousy.

The strange message, received by A. S. Landerberg, a local paper merchant, who sent Kohman to Russia on a business mission, contained an appeal for help, saying he was without funds.

The handkerchief was smuggled from the prison to Riga and Kohman gave a man all the money he had for the service. The handkerchief was used because the prison authorities denied Kohman the use of writing materials and would not allow him to communicate with any one in this country.

The letter was dated February 20.

RELATIONS OF EMPIRE PARTS DISCUSSED

Earl of Balfour Speaks of Forthcoming Conference in London

London, July 28 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Earl of Balfour, discussing the question of the forthcoming Imperial Conference, declared there was very little doubt that for the convenience of the various Dominions the date of the conference would have to be deferred until after October 5, the original date set for it to start. He intimated Premier Baldwin would shortly make a statement regarding the conference.

Taking up the work it was hoped would be accomplished at the conference, the Earl declared the question of the relations of the Dominions to the British Empire would certainly arise if any of the Dominions desired it.

"These relations are those of equality," that in the very essence of the British Empire as I understand it," he declared after stressing this was his personal view of the matter.

WAR CONDITIONS

Discussed what might occur in the eventuality of war, Lord Balfour expressed the hope that so far as Great Britain was concerned she would always be bound to defend any part of the Empire which was endangered. He thought the duties of other members of the Empire to Great Britain could be no less than Britain's duties to them, but with regard to the particular condition under which these duties were to be executed, he did not believe anything was to be gained by inventing "hard cases beforehand."

"Our plain duty is to defend the Empire of which we are so important a part," he said, "I hope you all believe we shall always carry out that duty, but it is also our duty to bring the Dominions into our councils as far as possible. There are difficulties in time and space which no scientific discovery can absolutely eliminate, but we desire to give the Dominions the right of influence in the making of our policy. We desire to bring them with us on every possible occasion, and we also desire the unbreakable bonds uniting us should carry with them mutual confidence, constant interchange of ideas, harmony and the highest of which are the great basis and strength of the Empire."

MONTREAL CHANGES IN CUSTOMS SERVICE

Ottawa, July 28.—Official confirmation of the dismissal of three members of the Montreal customs office was given from the office of the Minister of Customs to-day. The men dismissed are R. P. Clark, inspector; A. E. Giroux, superintendent; and M. J. Landy.

The order-in-council dismissing these officials, it is stated, was passed in accordance with the decision of parliament at the last session.

La Presse, Montreal, in its news columns yesterday, carries the following:

Three members of the Customs office of the port of Montreal have been forced to resign their posts as a result of the recent inquiry into the administration of the Customs Department. The inquiry was conducted by the principal in the department. They are R. P. Clark, inspector-in-chief of the department in the port of Montreal; A. E. Giroux, the superintendent and J. Landy. They received last night notices of immediate dismissal.

Lions of Miami Visited Vancouver

Vancouver, July 28.—A spirit of internationalism pervaded a luncheon held by the Vancouver Rotary Club yesterday when, in addition to several visiting Rotarians, about forty members of the Lions' Club of Miami, Florida, and many local Lions were present. The Miami Lions were returning through Vancouver from their international convention at San Francisco, and their glee club entertained the guests with some very fine selections. A feature of the occasion was the presentation by Robert Harvie, acting president on behalf of Vancouver Lions' club, of a silk Union Jack and a handsome leather-bound copy of Pauline Johnson's "Legends of Vancouver" to the Miami Lions to take back to Florida as a memento of their visit to Vancouver.

President Vernon Hawthorne responded in a happy vein. "Alex MacFarlane" then gave an account of the work of the resolutions committee at the Rotary international convention in Denver, of which he was chairman.

WORKMAN HURT

South Vancouver, July 28.—Thrown to the roadway when a horse-drawn wood wagon he was driving for the Dominion mill, north arm of the Fraser River, was struck by a British Columbia Electric Railway interurban train in charge of Motor-man T. Rife, Fifteenth Avenue East, at the level crossing in the 2900 block of East Marine Drive, Sher Singh, a Hindu living at the mill bunkhouse, was severely injured Tuesday evening. He was taken to the Vancouver General Hospital, where it is reported he suffered a fracture of one leg and a possible fracture of the skull. Little damage was done to the railway car.

If Teeth Lack Gleam Just Do This

Gives sparkling whiteness quickly

Please accept full 10-day tube free of this remarkable new method that leading dental authorities urge... note the difference in teeth and gums as dingy film coat goes.

The prettiest smile becomes ugly when teeth look clouded. Now modern science restores "off-color" teeth to dazzling whiteness. It's been found that dingy teeth come simply from a film that forms on teeth. A stubborn film old-type dentifrices did not successfully remove. That's why brushing failed you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel that film now—a sort of slippery coating. Beneath it are the white teeth you envy.

It absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. It invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea because it breeds bacteria.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, a scientific combatant has been found. Leading dentists widely urge it. All druggists have it. 10-day test sent free.

ANNA Q. NILSSON
STARS IN LATEST
PLAYHOUSE FILM

To what extent Viennese society had become addicted to strange fads and follies following the war is illustrated by Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the leading role in "The Greater Glory," June Mathis' great screen epic, now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. The production is a first National adaptation of the celebrated novel, "Viennese Medley," by Edith O'Shaughnessy, wife of the American minister at Vienna.

In the picture Miss Nilsson, who plays the part of a demimondaine friend of the Austrian war barons and profiteers, evinces a mania for tiny golden statuettes of rabbits, preferably jeweled. She is showered with these odd ornaments by her wealthy patron, who has grown rich as a result of conflict.

Vienna, once the gayest city of the empire, lapsed into these sorts of fads after the war. Psychologists have accounted them a reaction following five years of almost inhuman stress.

HUGE SCENE FROM
FORD'S NEW FILM
MADE IN STUDIO

"The Fighting Heart," the William Fox starring vehicle for George O'Brien, which will close at the Columbia Theatre to-night, is strictly a studio production. The huge sets, including the monstrous street set, were constructed on the grounds of the studio proper. Billie Dove, J. Farrell MacDonald, Victor MacLaglen, Diana Miller and James Marcus have the featured roles. John Ford directed.

"SHE" DRAWS FULL
HOUSES NIGHTLY AT
CAPITOL THEATRE

"She," the big British production of Sir Rider Haggard's famous novel of the same name, is drawing capacity houses nightly, at the Capitol Theatre, with Betty Blythe and Carlyle Blackwell in the lead. Both these stars carry out their parts to an artistic degree. Betty Blythe especially gives one of the most amazing and beautiful interpretations of her highly successful career. In this picture is everything one could wish for in a motion picture. There are thrills, mystery, a beautiful and perfect marvelous settings. There is no doubt that this fine British attraction will set the pace this season for better pictures.

GEORGE OLSEN STARS
IN DIFFICULT PART OF SPARKLING FARCE

George Ole Olsen, playing the part of Alfred Hardy, the wronged husband in "Baby Mine," at the Capitol Theatre, this week fills this difficult role excellently, but later when he becomes the proud father of triplets he probably excels anything he has yet done. Gertrude Burton as the wife fills the part to perfection and fully demonstrates the power behind one little fib. Ruth Hamilton and Jack Cassidy as a married couple, friendly to the Hardy's, and very free with advice, furnish a great deal of the humor in what is probably the funniest farce yet played by this popular aggregation.

MOVIE-ANA

Hollywood, July 28.—Back in the film town after several days' sojourn in Samuel Goldwyn's Nevada Desert location for "Barbara Worth" and impressions and sights at that lovely camp, 750 miles from the home base, the Hollywood "Charleston" steppers trying desperately to dance to old-fashioned cowboy fiddlers' tunes, but giving up in despair. . . . Finally, the local Nevada girls unable to stride to the jazzy offerings of the movie company's string orchestra. . . . The spirit willing, but the flesh weak, the local Nevada girls, with the cowboys outdancing their rivals. . . . Ronald Colman and Henry King on a rabbit hunt, catching wild horses, antelope and coyotes, and reducing the rabbit population of Nevada considerably. . . . Villainous Banky, the Imperialist, star, trying with her still limited knowledge of English, to understand the cowboys' compliments of her riding prowess. . . . Erwin Connelly, vaudeville star now in pictures, leading his Chinese cook and camp factotum to prepare a midnight feast of chop suey. . . . E. J. Ratcliffe, who resembles Roosevelt, filling his desert wellin with comment on his steady losses in a game of seven-card draw poker. . . . A Pluto squaw telling the Hollywood movie mads how the aborigine beauties "made up" to minimize the burn, and explaining her refusal to use her own crude cosmetic by saying that her husband, being merely a sage-brush gentleman, preferred "on very brunette." . . . Myself, drafted to participate in a movie scene which required a 200-yard dash through loose sand, coming to quick conclusion that the film is not what they're cracked up to be. . . .

SUBORDINATE STARS AND SIMPLIFY PLOT
IS MURNAU'S MOTIVE

With F. W. Murnau, director of that film classic, "The Last Laugh," the directness and simplicity of the story is the vitality important factor in cinema creation.

Thus, when this sandy-haired, soft-mannered, smiling young artist, who looks for all the world like a misplaced viking, arrived in America with the several reels of his interpretation of "Faust" in his kit bag, he candidly admitted that the "Martha" was played by a young lady quite unknown to the camera.

What he will be able to do about this in a land where the "star system" has so long triumphed and where more people go to see a "pet star" than a picture, remains to be seen.

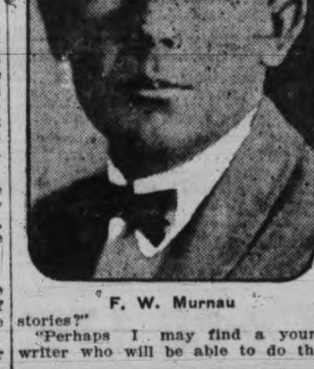

MUST RETURN
He begins with one advantage. He already has the scenario for Sudermann's "Son of Two Men," which he is to film for William Fox. He had his personal scenario writer to before leaving Germany—the same writer, by the way, who arranged that astounding masterpiece of sequence and continuity, "The Last Laugh," which, when given in Germany, contained not a single subtitle.

His agreement calls for but one picture, for he was loaned to Fox by UFA and must, under his contract, go back to the "old country" for one more production.

"Thereafter" he was asked, "I want to come to America," he said, "I want to find the heart of America. If I can in the short time I shall be here."

"But where will you get your stories?" F. W. Murnau work according to my ideas," he went on. "And perhaps by that time I shall be able to bring over my own man. My point is to take the story, strip it down to its bare essentials, work out its course with uncompromising directions. There should be no need for titles in a picture whose story is properly stripped and arranged. The pictures should clearly tell the story without the need for any props. My idea has been to achieve the utmost in simplicity; to eliminate any confusions and ramifications. It has seemed to me that the selection of proper types, rather than the featuring of stars is of greatest importance. If the story flows in the manner which I think it should, stars will be automatically subordinated to the whole of the picture—and that, it seems to me, is the way it should be. The whole should be more important than the individual gestures."

BORROWED FROM MAN

The finely tucked vest with the narrow Peter Pan collar and tiny buttons, is featured on many of the striped wash silk sport dresses.

OLD PUPILS HELD REUNION AT ST. ANN'S ACADEMY

Visitors Welcomed Yesterday By New Sister Superior; Presentation Made

The annual reunion of old pupils was held yesterday afternoon at St. Ann's Academy when many former students and friends of the Sisters thoroughly enjoyed the pleasure of renewing their old-time friendships. Following the custom of other years the reunion was held at the close of the annual retreat and immediately following the festival of St. Ann for which Sisters from all over the Province of British Columbia and of Alaska are assembled, and many of whom will remain for the teachers' sessions of the annual Summer school in St. Ann's Academy.

Yesterday's guests were received at the pupils' entrance where they registered and passed on to the prettily decorated reception rooms to find a warm welcome awaiting them, and where a delightful hour was spent. Here all had an opportunity of meeting Sister Mary Hilda, the newly-appointed superior of St. Ann's Academy in succession to Sister Mary Edith, and in whom many found an old friend.

Tea was served in the gymnasium at prettily appointed tables, and many of the nuns of St. Joseph's Hospital attended as former pupils. A short musical programme was in which the graduates of the academy afterwards given in the auditorium a happy part, "The Stream of Memory" to the melody of "Swanee River" and "Auld Lang Syne" being sung by all.

Miss Helen Sutton and Miss Hazel Clyde played charming piano solos, "Le Cavalier Fantastique" and "Pantaleon" in D minor. "Poet and Peasant" was played in duet by Miss Winona Cathcart and Miss Alice Anderson. Miss Margaret Cary sang two dainty songs, "All For You" and "Je t'aime". Miss Kathleen Fromey in "The Faithful Soul," a musical recitation, and Miss Dorothy Hartree in "Come to the Fair" were warmly applauded. A musical monologue, "The Season of the Water Mill," was given by Miss Margaret Cary at the special request of many who had heard her last year.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, which was given in the chapel by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Letorne, was sung by the novices' choir, and Sister Mary Patricia (Miss Lombard) sang at the close of the service. Caro Roma's beautiful sacred song, "I Come to Thee."

PRESENTATION OF GOLD
A special feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a gift of gold to Mother Provincial, Sister St. Gabriella, by the graduates of the commercial department for the past twenty-five years. This gift to be used in equipping the commercial department, now being thoroughly remodelled with new desks.

WAR SOCKS VALUED BY THIS SOLDIER

French Poilu Treasures Note Sent by Canadian Girl

Paris, July 28.—While in the trenches of Northern France, Achille, a French soldier, received a note pinned to them, part of a gift consignment from Canada.

For ten years he preserved the note, carefully hoping some day someone would visit his little home town of Saint-Pourcain who could translate the note for him. He was waiting in English, of which he knows not a word.

Recently a party of United States tourists stopped at Saint-Pourcain. Achille was on duty on the day they arrived and he drew from his pocket a well-worn wallet and extracted from it a folded paper, brown around the edges and deeply creased.

"Please, madame," he asked of the woman, "can you tell me what this writing is?"

The note was signed by Florence Sherman, Alameda, Saskatchewan. "I've wanted so long to know," said Achille, "for those were nice, warm socks. Now I can write and thank her for them."

DODGE MILLIONS LEFT TO FAMILY

No Bequests to Charity From $20,000,000 Estate

New York, July 27.—The bulk of the $20,000,000 estate of Cleveland H. Dodge, financier, was divided evenly between his wife and four children. Relatively small amounts were left to other relatives, friends and employees, but the philanthropist left nothing to charity or institutions of any kind.

"I make no bequest of that character," the will, which was filed yesterday, read, "knowing the hearty sympathy of my dear wife and children in such subjects, and feeling sure they will use the property entrusted to them liberally for humane and benevolent objects."

PROMINENT CHURCH WORKER IS WEDDED

Mrs. Marrison, President St. John's W.A., Bride of Alex. Wilson

A large congregation was present at St. John's Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the ceremony which united in marriage Mrs. Mary Eliza Marrison of 1070 Amphion Street, to Alexander Wilson of Victoria. The bride is an active worker in St. John's Church, being president of the W.A., and members of the W.A., the Ladies' Guild and the Girls' branch of the W.A. were among the guests. The service was fully choral.

Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Edwin Tomlin, was handsomely dressed in grey georgette over rose silk, with a becoming hat of black, trimmed with shades of blue and grey. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Mrs. Fred M. Scott, niece of the bride, was the matron of honor wearing a smart frock of blue de rose crepe, and little Miss Helen Scott was a dainty flower-girl in orchid crepe de Chine. Mr. Fred M. Scott supported the bridegroom.

After the service the bridal party and guests repaired to the Rectory, where a reception was held, many friends conveying their congratulations and good wishes to the bride and bridegroom. Later Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left on a honeymoon tour of Vancouver Island, and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

Among the many handsome gifts received was a beautiful cut glass vase from the members of the W.A., a silver flower basket, suitably inscribed, from the Ladies' Guild, and a silver casserole from the Girls' branch of the W.A. The bridegroom's gift to the matron of honor was an agate ring and to the best man a watch chain.

WOMEN OF SIXTY COMPETE FOR HONORS AT FALL FAIR

Special Section at Willows to be Devoted to Entries by Veteran Needlewomen

Can the student of the modern technical school compete with the veteran old ladies whose first training in the home arts was received under the direction of patient mothers half a century ago? Visitors to the Fall Fair opening at the Willows, August 16, will have an opportunity to decide the question by a study of the wide array of exhibits which will be shown in the woman's department.

There is no competition between the old ladies and brides or students for with commendable foresight the organizers have arranged separate sections for all classes of exhibits.

MUST BE OVER SIXTY
As in former years, however, entries will be sought from ladies whom it is specified must be over sixty years of age. It is anticipated that this section, as in former years, will be one of the most attractive in the women's building. In past years there have been many wonderful entries from exhibits whose years of experience are reflected in a variety of beautifully worked articles. Their exhibits prove that the years have added to their skill rather than detracted from it. Nimble though aged fingers prepare work every year for the exhibition which is the envy of many of the younger competitors.

There is the admiration of every visitor. Intricate patterns are worked into dollies, bedspreads, quilts and lace with the years of experience which these veterans have in reflected in the priceless masterpieces they exhibit.

WITHOUT AN ERROR
Many of them represent weeks and weeks of exacting work without a single error—a proud accomplishment for a worker in any profession or trade. The pride in the work and the years of experience which these veterans have is reflected in the priceless masterpieces they exhibit.

Their accomplishments cover a wide variety of work and they will compete for prizes for embroidered bedspread, crocheted bedspread, dollies (three), any quilt, hand-made rug, lace, crocheted lace, knitted socks, knitted stockings, knitted sweater, knitted turtleneck and collection knitted articles (six).

Many ways to get dirty one SAFE way to get Clean

It seems to be a privilege of childhood to get gloriously dirty. Hands, face and knees—every exposed part of the body is always coming into contact with germ-laden objects.

Lifebuoy is the great purifying and protecting soap. It is more than a cleansing soap, because its lather has antiseptic properties that purify and protect against infections.

The regular use of Lifebuoy for casual cleansing, bathing and shampooing is a pleasurable and protective habit in millions of homes.

The cleanly health odour soon vanishes—the protection remains.

Lillian Tells of Greasing For Long Channel Swim

Lillian Cannon being greased for the channel, just to see how it feels. "And if your bathing suit hinders you in the crossing, tear it off," says the trainer.

By LILLIAN CANNON
CAP GIRL NEZ, France, July 28.—Here is a tip for winners of beauty prizes, champion bathing girls and women athletes who safeguard their loveliness. Don't come over here to swim the English Channel.

I have been having some experience with the little details that are required by a swimmer in an attempt to cross the Channel. I have been "greased" for a long swim and have beheld myself with dismay and horror.

I have not many charms, but I am convinced that no girl can be charming for this job. However strongly she may swim, the channel mermaid can never be seductive. The programme is complicated, and I am afraid that I do not yet know the worst. When I get ready for my attempt, I shall be made to lie down, and my sun-browned body will be smeared first by an oily concoction that is designed to keep the pores of my skin open. Then I shall be covered, from toes to chin, by a thick, dirty grease that resembles the sort of thing that engineers put about machinery to keep it from rusting. Perhaps this will keep me from rusting in the channel.

I must manage to squirm into the flimsiest kind of costume, and then I shall be greased all over again. The coating will be as thick as can be made to cling to me. The awful stuff will probably get into my hair and make about my neck, and make me feel slimy as a fish.

Yet it must be done. The grease is primarily designed to keep out the cold and to protect my veins and muscles during the long immersion. It also has another happy effect. I have been greased before, and I know that once in the water the stickiness is forgotten and the water rolls over you without resistance.

As though the grease were not bad enough, I must wear the ugliest glasses ever designed, so that the salt water won't continuously run over my eyes and blind me.

I love to wave my hair, powder my nose and rouge my lips, like any girl, to make myself presentable. But apparently there will be none of these little whims in my channel swim. I shall be a frightful fish. And the other day I was thinking about my bathing costume, wondering if a simple suit would serve, when my trainer said: "Oh, don't worry. If your costume chafes you, tear it off and swim without anything."

I was shocked until I learned that four of the five men who swam the channel did so without anything on. There is a good story about Tira-boschi, the Argentine who holds the record. His rubber costume bothered him and he kicked it off before he finished, but when he was landing and starting to do the customary fifty yards up the beach, his friends in the boat reminded him that he was quite nude and that a couple of hundred people gathered on the beach would see him. He turned to them with a grunt and said: "What do you think I'm going to do, swim back to France?"

THESE ENTERTAINERS ALSO MUST EAT

By ARTHUR N. PACK

All through the summer we enjoy the songs and companionship of our familiar birds. Some of these go to milder climates when winter comes, but others prefer to remain with us, and these often find it hard to get enough food.

So if we establish and keep stocked for them a feeding table, we shall not only help them to survive, but furnish entertainment for ourselves. Suet is one of the foods most appreciated. It may be tied to a limb protected by a loose-meshed bag, or merely cut finely and placed in a shallow dish.

Other acceptable foods are peanut butter, rolled oats, and any table scraps. For chickadees and nut-hatches, a cocoon with a hole cut in the side, wired to a tree trunk, will be daily visited by the chickadees until emptied.

Water should also be furnished, and, summer or winter, forms one of the surest lures. We know of one enthusiastic bird lover who has greatly added to the popularity of his lunch counter by furnishing a shallow fountain with a tiny jet of gas, which, kept burning in cold weather, keeps the water just above freezing-point. By its aid about half a hundred different species of birds have been induced to come to lunch, in fact have become more or less regular visitors.

Winter Bird Guests

Establish a feeding station for winter birds and you will soon have species in your yard that, perchance, you would never see otherwise.

CROP IMPROVEMENT IN PRAIRIE REGION

Winnipeg, July 28.—While many districts of the prairies were visited by hail during the past week, damage to crops was comparatively slight and crop conditions, if any different, are a trifle better than a week ago. According to the weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railways, Rye cutting is now proceeding in Manitoba and will be general in ten days, when barley cutting will also begin. In the Brandon district, it is expected wheat will be ready for the binder in ten days.

Boxing Officials In Semi-final To Fight
For Heavyweight Title

Way Not Clear Yet For Dempsey-Tunney Bout; License Committee is Balking

Batters Establishing Their Training Quarters; Likely to Fight in Peace

New York, July 28.—As a semi-final to the fifteen-round heavyweight championship battle between champion Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, at the Yankee Stadium September 16, the state athletic commission and its license committee will clash.

This was decided upon yesterday when the commission approved the proposition of Tex Rickard's emissaries to bring the much-travelled Dempsey back to New York from Chicago. There will be no referee for the semi-final and no limit has been set, but after it is all over, boxing observers believed that Dempsey and Tunney will be permitted to fight in peace.

Colonel John J. Phelan, chairman of the license committee, who is known to favor, along with Chairman Farley, a bout between Dempsey and the negro Harry Wills, intimated yesterday that no license for Dempsey-Tunney affair would be issued.

GOING AHEAD ANYWAY

Two weeks hence the license committee will meet again and at that time there may be a decision. Meanwhile, Rickard is planning for the event and Dempsey and Tunney have arranged to meet at Saratoga, N.Y., where the champion at Saratoga, and Tunney probably at Lake Pleasant, N.Y.

Commissioner Geo. Brower, a lawyer and former chairman of the commission, in a statement last night to the Associated Press, planned the reversal of his former stand was due to Chairman Farley's apparent inability to bring about a title match between Dempsey and Harry Wills, the negro challenger.

"I have considered it a duty to vote with the chairman the same as he stood with me while at our former meeting. I felt I was giving him a chance to play his last card in an effort to bring about a Wills-Dempsey bout.

Expressing doubt as to the commission's power or right to take upon itself the business of matching boxing, Brower said: "I am not willing to leave the business of boxing in this state at the will of the commission."

The commission injected itself into an argument that has proceeded over a period of some six years, attempting to do that which the event has shown impossible of accomplishment. Having failed in its effort to achieve its purpose, it should not further deprive the people of this state of the benefit of another.

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., July 28.—Gene Tunney, now at the White Sulphur Springs, Saratoga Lake, where he has been working out, has let the horses to the water. It appears it cannot make him drink. I am not willing to leave the business of boxing in this state at the will of the commission.

Seattle Tennis

Seattle, July 28.—Marie McNab, Vancouver, upset predictions yesterday when she defeated Rose Marie Brown, San Francisco, in the girls' division of the Washington State tennis championship tournament here in three hard-fought sets.

Results of the second day's play included:

Men's Singles
Second Round—Alan Herrington, Los Angeles, beat Mack McGrover, Vancouver, 6-2, 6-1; J. Reynolds, Los Angeles, beat R. D. Small, Seattle, 6-1, 6-0.

Girls' Singles
Semi-Finals—Mary Barbara Taylor, Los Angeles, beat Florence Tennant, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1; Miss McNab beat Miss Brown, 6-0, 3-6, 6-4.

Women's Singles
Second Round—Mrs. Ream Leachman, Vallejo, Cal., beat Gertrude Laderman, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-1; Miss McNab beat Thelma Wolf, Seattle, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

Women's Doubles
First Round—Mrs. Leachman and Eleanor Hishop beat Miss Brown and Miss Taylor, 6-4, 7-5.

Men's Doubles
First Round—Jock Malone and Whitcomb Quillian, Seattle, beat Clarke and Cosgrove, 6-2, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles
First Round—Miss Schwartz and Harrington beat Miss Laderman and Cosgrove, 6-2, 6-1.

Eber, Bantam Champ
of Canada, Retires
From Ring Career

Toronto, July 28.—Bobby Eber, bantamweight boxing champion of Canada, has quit the ring and will abandon his title.

It is stated that Eber is contemplating making his residence in Chicago where he will retire on account of his health, his tender ribs, fractured on more than one occasion, having caused him much inconvenience.

Local Track And

To Vancouver Soon

Physical Director of Y.M.C.A. Has Fine Team of Youngsters For Caledonian Sports

Archie McKinnon, physical director of the local Y.M.C.A., will take a team of junior athletes to Vancouver to compete in the fortieth annual Caledonian sports August 7.

A good card of junior events has been arranged and it is expected the local boys will give the Vancouver juniors a tussle for their money.

The local team has been training faithfully for the last month. The team that will make the trip to the mainland will be as follows: Frank Skillings, Len Nicol, Bradley Watson, Jack Dunn and Javin Drom.

During the last police sports held here the local boys did well in all events in the junior classes.

Mr. McKinnon has had his team going through track and field work for some weeks.

Several local boys will enter the bicycle races. It is expected that Bill Peden will be one of the boys. Up to the time the team leaves for Vancouver workouts will be held two nights each week.

Commissioner Geo. Brower, a lawyer and former chairman of the commission, in a statement last night to the Associated Press, planned the reversal of his former stand was due to Chairman Farley's apparent inability to bring about a title match between Dempsey and Harry Wills, the negro challenger.

"I have considered it a duty to vote with the chairman the same as he stood with me while at our former meeting. I felt I was giving him a chance to play his last card in an effort to bring about a Wills-Dempsey bout.

Having failed in its effort to achieve its purpose, it should not further deprive the people of this state of the benefit of another.

Goslin, Reinstated, Plays His

St. Louis Win

New York, July 28.—A day of accomplishment for sons of St. Louis in the major leagues, who no longer perform in the mound city, must be recorded even though the Pittsburgh Pirates toppled the anxious Giants and Babe Ruth hit his thirty-first homer of the season.

Hank Severid tossed about from the Browns to Senators to Yankees in deals, hit two doubles and a single in New York's six-to-five victory over the Browns yesterday.

Jacobson, centre fielder, with the Browns for some years, had a home run, a double and three singles in the Red Sox 7-0 victory over Detroit.

Babe Ruth's lift at St. Louis placed him within five of his 1921 record at this stage.

Goslin was reinstated by Manager "Bucky" Harris and contributed largely to Washington's 7-2 victory over Chicago.

Walter V.I.A.A. handled it for several years. The Times took it over seven years ago and have been in charge of it ever since.

Man Who Originated Long Distance Swim Enters Race

W. T. Stanyon Will Again Compete in The Times Swim on Saturday; Started Race in 1912 When He Won From a Field of Seven; In Veterans' Class This Year and Expects to Finish as Usual

W. T. STANYON

W. T. Stanyon, the man who originated the Through-Victoria Swim in 1912 and was the first winner, will try his hand at the distance again on Saturday afternoon. He is a veteran now but hopes to win the prize for the first man in that class to finish.

He has entered a great many of the long-distance swims in the past and has always completed the distance.

Mr. Stanyon is a former naval man and while in that service gave instruction in swimming. On coming to Victoria during the boom days Mr. Stanyon was still very interested in swimming, particularly long-distance racing, and he came out with a proposal to give an exhibition swim from the Causeway to the Gorge. Before he had a chance to give the exhibition, however, six other swimmers offered to go over the distance with him and it was made into a race. Mr. Stanyon was the winner.

The Y.M.C.A. conducted the race until the war days and then the V.I.A.A. handled it for several years. The Times took it over seven years ago and have been in charge of it ever since.

WIN FOR GRAYS HARBOR
Seattle, July 28.—Beating par by eleven strokes, with a card of 123, for the thirty-six holes of best-ball medal play, the Grays Harbor combination of Mortie Dutra and Walter Dorgave Monday won the fourth annual invitation pro-amateur tournament of the Rainier Golf and Country Club. Walter Pursey and Ralph Whaley of Inglewood were second, with 135, and Frank Noble and Dr. John M. Johnston, of the home club, were third with 137. Forty-four pairs competed.

Spanish Wrestler is Hurt and Greek Wins
San Francisco, July 28.—Jim Londo, Greek wrestler, defeated Andreas Costanos, Spaniard, in a wrestling bout here last night when the latter received an injured neck and was unable to continue.

Costanos was hurt when the Greek threw him with a flying mare after the Spaniard had won a fall.

Giuseppe Maestri, Italian, defeated Jatrinda Gobroner, Hindu, in a one-fall bout.

Seven Leagues To Play For B.C. Baseball Title
Vancouver, July 28.—Arrangements for the playoff series, which will decide the British Columbia amateur baseball association championships in senior A and senior B series, will be made at a meeting to be held on Saturday August 7.

Saturday, August 14 is the date set for the opening round in the playoff series and all leagues must have a winner ready to play on that date. It is quite likely that a seeded draw, as in tennis, will be the form instituted this year in order to make the competition keener and also save in expenses. Last year a "hat" draw was made, and it did not prove very satisfactory.

Seven leagues will compete in the senior A series, according to information at hand by Secretary Stan Smith. West Kootenay, Victoria, Howe Sound, New Westminster and District, Vancouver, Terminal and Twilight Leagues will go into the draw.

HOW TO SWIM
by Lillian Cannon

Down in the Chesapeake Bay every beginner, almost, learns the dog paddle first.

The stroke is as natural as walking on the hands and knees and hardly requires teaching, because every beginner goes into it naturally.

The beginner takes off easily, merely letting the body fall forward with the arms stretched forward.

The kick will give the first propulsion and then the hands alternate go straight forward and are brought forward and backward to the side.

Segelabra Scores Two Goals

Tallies Twice For Sons

Victoria's representatives in the play-off for the lacrosse championship of B.C. will be the Sons of Canada. This was definitely decided at the Royal Athletic Park last night when the Sons defeated Sidney by the decisive margin of five goals to three and went into a four-game lead in the league standing, an advantage which Sidney cannot possibly head off in the few remaining games.

Last night's encounter produced some of the greatest lacrosse seen here this year. With their backs against the wall, knowing that defeat meant elimination from the play-off, Sidney put their shoulders to the wheel and all but pulled the fat out of the first quarter by 1-0 and at the end of the second by 3-2.

SEGELABRA SCORES
Segelabra, the youthful inside home of Sidney, was responsible for the opening tally, taking a pass from Jenkins and beating Gravin with a hot shot.

The second goal fell Segelabra's way eight minutes after the start of the second quarter. The Sons began to show their form after this reverse, and evened up the count on tallies by Popham and Kirk. Mel Hicks had Sidney again in the lead on a long shot before the close of the stanza.

POPHAM AGAIN
Once again Popham came to the rescue of the Sons, and with a smart piece of individual work, got the rather past Simpson for the second time.

Patterson put the Sons in the lead for the first time during the game when he took Bryljohnson's pass and ran the ball into the Sidney net. Johnson put the game on ice with a close-in shot, which went for a tally a few minutes later.

Bruce Fulton refereed and the team won.

Sons of Canada—Gravin, E. Taylor, Kirk, McNamie, Johnson, Bryljohnson, Stanyon, Nute, Stewart, Popham, Patterson, McGregor, John Taylor, Gordin and Foster.

Sidney—Simpson, E. Norton, T. Rickenson, Gilman, Hill, Bowcott, Hicks, Segelabra, S. Rickenson, Davies, Jenkins, Norton and Reid.

Helen Wills Playing In First Competition Since Her Operation
New York, July 28.—Miss Helen Wills, national women's tennis champion, will play in her first tennis competition since her operation in France for appendicitis, when she takes the court in the invitation tournament at East Hampton, L.I., today.

Except for Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, it is not expected that many of the other women stars will play, owing to a conflict with the Essex County championships at Manchester, Mass., in which most of the stars are playing.

Miss Wills was operated on June 4 in Paris and discharged from the hospital July 12—Outside of a fortnight's practice at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, the champion has not played since her illness.

Big Battle Between Golfers of East And West Is Looked For
Winnipeg, July 28.—A battle between East and West is predicted, following the release last night of the draw for the first flight of the playdown for the Western Canada amateur golf championship which commenced here this morning.

Don Carrick and Ross Somerville, the two eastern stars in the tourney, are in the bottom half of the draw, while the majority of the top-north westerners will stumble against one another in the top half.

A. C. MacWilliams of Calgary will meet R. D. McLean of Winnipeg; E. Campbell, Edmonton, versus A. D. Robertson, Winnipeg; J. R. Henley, Edmonton, versus R. Walsh, Winnipeg; J. L. Dawson, Regina, versus H. A. Putnam, Minneapolis; Lorne Johnson, Regina, versus A. J. Hatcher, Winnipeg; Thomas Russell, Moose Jaw, versus E. Palmer, Winnipeg; J. L. Bell, Calgary, versus Don Carrick, Toronto; Philip Morse, Saskatoon, versus Matt Thompson, Winnipeg; D. Maxwell, Calgary, versus C. Roenish, Calgary; William Kidd, Shaunavon, versus G. Leggo, Winnipeg.

Somerville will meet H. R. Granger, a local man, while Jack Cuthbert, the Winnipeg ace, is to meet J. M. Blair of Port Arthur.

Winnipeg, July 28.—C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., Canadian amateur golf champion, and Ned McKenna, professional at the Minaki, Ont., course, added more titles to their list, the result of Tuesday's play in the Western Canada Association tournament. Somerville, as a result of shooting a very nice 73, annexed the Manitoba amateur title which was involved in the two days' play. The Eastern Star's card for the thirty-six holes was 149, and this also tied him for second place in the open event with Willie Kidd and Ernest Penfold of Minneapolis.

McKenna pulled off the top honors of the day; the Western Canada open honors. He was in particularly brilliant form, turning in a card of 73 for Tuesday's round. This gave him a 147 total, a two-stroke advantage over his nearest rivals.

Four golfers shared honors for fourth place and of these two were amateurs. They were Willie Kidd and Ernest Penfold of Minneapolis. Weir cut four strokes from his Monday total with a 73. Joe Land also picked off a 73. Lorne Johnson, 150, and Norman Clark had a pair of 75's. Jimmy Blair's 79 proved disastrous to his chances of landing on top. He had a 174 for the two days' work.

SOFT-BALL

Two upsets featured play in "B" section of the softball league last night, when the Antares turned upon the Cameron Tigers and won by a 12-8 score there was great surprise. But when Foul Bay did the same trick on the Hudson's Bay the upset was complete. Both the winning teams showed greatly improved form and well deserved their victories.

Both contests in "C" section were more or less one-sided. Following were the results of the night's games:

Section "B"—On-we-goes 8, Rapids 6; Foul Bay 12, Hudson's Bay 8; Andrews 12, Cameron Lumber Tigers 8.

Section "C"—Plimley & Ritchie 23, Wilson Bros. 15; Sons of England 14, Y.M.C.A. "B" 3.

JOHN DUNCAN DUNN—GET BENEFIT OF LESSONS
Anybody can play a good game of golf, if he is earnest and ambitious, provided he will work along right lines and practice sufficiently. Sad to relate most people when they practice alone are so bored that they get little good out of it.

That is why it is better to practice under professional supervision, provided you don't have a professional who talks to you all the time—Some think that it is necessary to do this to earn the fee.

Too many ideas mean none at all—only confusion. Repetition until you eliminate the fault is the only way. You may get tired of heading the same old thing dinned into your ears.

ALL THE TIME, BUT THEN YOU HAVE THE REMEDY. GET BUSY AND CURE THE FAULT AND CURE IT PERMANENTLY.

When you take lessons and when you practice is the only time to think of method. When you play the course you must only think of hitting the ball to the place where it ought to go. The man who talks about having fifty-seven things to think about will never make a golfer.

ARTS IS OLDEST FACULTY IN B.C.

Dean of Faculty Writes of Its Place in Modern Scheme of Education

"The Faculty of Arts and Science is the oldest in the University of British Columbia, since it was the direct inheritor of the work done for many years in British Columbia under the auspices of McGill University. It is also the oldest of all the faculties included under the University name, for it can trace a direct connection with the schools of higher learning of the later Roman times," says the introduction of this article, entitled "The Faculty of Arts and Science," by Dean C. C. Coleman, man, appearing in the British Columbia Monthly for July of this year.

"Age is, however, no recommendation in itself, and the Faculty of Arts and Science has no disposition to assume any special dignity on that account," he continues. "It rests its claims for consideration and support solely upon the contribution which it makes to modern life and the part it necessarily plays in any well-organized scheme of modern learning."

"If one cared to use the terms 'cultural' and 'vocational,' he would, suppose, speak of the Arts courses (so called) as cultural, while the courses in professional or semi-professional faculties, like law, medicine, engineering, and agriculture, would be spoken of as vocational. The fact is, however, that Arts subjects are not strictly the first nor are the subjects of the other faculties strictly the second. The student who is preparing for a profession doubtless receives a considerable amount of genuine culture from the courses he is required to follow, and it is certain that the ordinary student for the Arts degree acquires a considerable amount of information, and develops habits and attitudes which are (or at least, can be) of much use to him in the calling he shall later follow in life. The absence of any strict line of demarcation between the cultural and the vocational in the local University may be illustrated by a number of facts taken directly from the University calendar.

FROM THE CALENDAR

"1. Many subjects, such as Bacteriology, Botany, Chemistry, Economics, and Mathematics, may be pursued either out of a desire for knowledge or as a means of equipment for a profession. In either case subject-matter and method are the same and it is not unusual to find students registered in all three faculties taking what is practically the same course.

"2. Foreign languages, like French and German, have a value for utility as well as for culture, but whether they are pursued with one or the other aim in view, it is the same language which is studied, based on the same grammar and involving the same idiom.

"3. Professional training at the present day tends to begin with studies which are quite general in their nature and scope and, gradually, to direct the student towards activities and pursuits which are more and more technical in character. In the earlier stages of the cultural aspect is emphasized and in the later, the vocational, but both aspects are present throughout. The student who enters the University with a 'glorified' plumber, to use the term that was once disconcertingly applied to him; and a graduate in Agriculture is certainly something more than a 'glorified' farmer.

home of the pure sciences, it furnishes the common ground in which are rooted the disciplines of the large group of professions based on these sciences, and since it is the home of philosophy, history and the social sciences generally, it furnishes the necessary basis for all those professions which deal directly with human nature and human society.

TEN YEARS' LIFE

"After these rather abstract remarks it may be in order to speak in some detail of the Faculty of Arts and Science in our own University in the light of the ten years of its history.

"Such a faculty is, in many other institutions, known simply as a Faculty of Arts, and the words 'and Science' are added in the case of the local institution to indicate the inclusion within the scope of the Faculty's activities of instruction in the so-called pure sciences. These are, in the order in which the calendar for the present year enumerates them: Bacteriology, Botany, Chemistry, Geology and Geography, Physics and Zoology.

"We in the West have the tendency to use the word 'phenomenal' to indicate the rapid growth of our institutions and industries. While the growth of the Faculty of Arts has not been phenomenal as compared with certain American institutions, it has been steady and, on the whole, quite remarkable. It has risen, year by year, so that the enrollment, which in 1916 was a little over three hundred, has now passed the eleven hundred mark. This makes it, when compared with similar institutions in other parts of the continent, second only to that of the University of Toronto.

"It was upon the Faculty of Arts and Science that the revolution in the old Fairview buildings pressed most heavily. Class-rooms were congested to an extent which made teaching difficult, and in many cases lectures had to be repeated again and again simply because a sufficient number of lecture rooms capable of accommodating large classes could not be found.

"In our new quarters, however, our present needs are amply provided for, though it is remarkable what a small margin we have for future expansion.

"Within recent years there have been two very hopeful developments within the Faculty. One is the establishment of the Summer session—a six weeks' course for teachers and others who desire to pursue university studies and who cannot attend during the Winter session. The other is the removal to Point Grey of the Summer session, which has proved even more attractive than it has been in the past, and should appeal particularly to visiting teachers and others from the prairie provinces who desire to combine Summer study with recreation. It is not impossible that in a few years' time the Summer session may overshadow, in point of numbers attending, the Winter session.

"A second development is a one-year's Teacher Training Course for University graduates, conducted by arrangement with the Provincial Department of Education. This course should make a very real contribution to the efficiency of the schools of the Province, since it provides a very useful centre for the study of current educational problems and a very useful clearing house for educational ideas.

Why Far-seeing Men Are Investing Money Here

Look at Victoria Through Other Men's Eyes Then See It With Your Own!

These are men of large affairs and wide experience. They have chosen Victoria as a place to invest money, to play, and carry out great ideals.

Victoria occupies a unique position that makes it impossible to escape the pressure of great forces which first impel and then compel great development.

The period of waiting is past. We are going into a great future with brisk activity and all sails set.

Activity is greatly accelerated by the influx of American capital, which will be largely augmented as time goes on.

Property is already increasing in value. It hasn't, as yet, had a corresponding increase in price. The margin between price and value is now large and the future can have only increasing activity, which means rapid increase in the value of property and huge profits for those who buy at present prices.

Citizens—

The opportunity is staring you in the face; a few dollars invested to-day should make you well-to-do in the future.

But Remember—

Your Last Chance to Buy at Bargain Prices is TO-MORROW

At the FINAL AUCTION SALE

Of City-owned Real Estate in the Business Area and the Beautiful Residential District of Foul Bay.

Go To-day,

Inspect these properties, select several sites and buy just as much as you can comfortably afford to carry, for you will have cause to regret it the rest of your life if you allow this phenomenal money-making opportunity to slip by.

Sincerely yours, (Signed) CLARENCE MARTIN.

TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY

91 Fourth Street, Portland, Oregon, July 20, 1926.

Dear Mr. Austin: I have called to my attention your ad in today's Oregonian covering your proposed auction sale in Victoria on the 29th instant, and have just wired you and requested that you send me full particulars, as I am immensely interested in this sale. I would also appreciate your making in Victoria reservations at the Empress Hotel in Victoria for real estate investors as well as some out-of-town investors who are looking for good buys.

I was in Victoria last Summer and was particularly struck with the possibility of real estate investments, and I was indeed sorry that I could not attend the sale which you later held. I have, however, heard a great deal of this sale since then, and several of the last time have come in contact during the last Winter with people who are enthusiastically considering Victoria as being one of the best cities on the North Coast for real estate investments, as there is no doubt but what it will eventually be the Mecca of the North Pacific Coast for the vacationists desiring a complete rest and change of climate.

Inasmuch as you have doubtless studied the locations of the properties you are offering for auction, I hope to see you either in Seattle or Victoria before the sale, as I would personally like to go over this property with you.

Yours very truly, (Signed) A. L. GRUTZER, Secretary and Trust Officer.

July 16, 1926.

My Dear Mr. Austin: I have your letter of recent date giving us some data with reference to properties in Victoria. We are quite interested in these offerings and at an early date we will be with you to make a trip to Victoria to look over these properties on the ground, as we fully realize the merits of the properties you have submitted, and the splendid possibilities for investments in Victoria realty.

With kind regards, I am, Yours very sincerely, (Signed) J. F. DOUGLAS, Seattle.

A year ago when I came to Victoria I could be regarded as nothing more than a tourist. I just happened to drop in, as it were, en route to other parts, but after spending a few days here became so enraptured that we decided to cancel our previous plans and spend the remainder of the Summer here. During that time my interest in real estate prompted me to look into values here, and upon realizing the tremendous opportunities for profit proceeded to make some real estate investments.

When you stop to figure that there are well over 1,000,000 American people within a few hours' ride of Victoria, it is a certainty that Victoria must prosper, because these people living as they do in bustling American cities, need relaxation, and inasmuch as Victoria satisfies every conceivable wish, it is naturally the place for these people to come and play and spend their money. Moreover, Vancouver Island possesses things that the world needs, things that the world must have. Its timber, as an example, which means the development of industry, and the consequent disbursement of millions of dollars for labor, which means in turn better times, better rents and an assured increase in property values.

Santa Monica, HARRY R. LEECH.

Handmaiden, one dumps down the plates, huge Goliath ones. Handmaiden two hurls a spoonful of potato and cauliflower salad upon the plate. Handmaiden three hurls a hunk of cold ham or meat loaf. Handmaiden four slings a pimento upon the heap, and handmaiden five hurls a tomato.

We are timed one minute to certainties, for the horse d'oeuvre. Promptly, the male cock-o'-the-roost signals his handmaidens and they swoop down upon our table. One takes the top plate and puts a new one in its place, one stops with a huge pannier of bread, a third heaps the tompost plate with omelet, the best omelet I ever ate, juicy and packed full of spicy herbs.

We are timed again. Then Monsieur the chancier walks down the aisle, asking "more, more."

We are a bit dazed at this spectacle of being asked if we would have more on a dinner. Many accept. Then Chancier, summons his cackling handmaiden and she dumps it on. More plates—the fourth so far.

This time the phant of five maidens lines up, one leaves a chicken leg, the second adds a spoonful of gravy, the third some peas, the fourth some potatoes.

Timed. And again the chief cock-o'-the-walk goes down the aisle with the second helping.

Ice cream, a watery kind, with cake, and cheese complete the feast. The bill? Twenty-five francs, which, being interpreted, meant that day a trifle over 51 cents each.

One has no doubt about the tip. Chancier hovers o'er one and breathes passionately, "The service, the service, what do you think? Was he not superb? Should he not have even more than ten per cent tip? Five francs, she is nothing at all to you, You make it ten."

Somerville, Mass., July 28.—Two children attended their great grandmother's wedding here.

The bride was Mrs. Margaret M. Garland, sixty-four, a widow. The groom was Wallis J. Howard, sixty-five, formerly a guard at State Prison for thirty years.

A. Carmichael & Co., Ltd., Ventura, B.C.

Gentlemen: Many thanks for your good services, but I would rather build, or even hold, than take anything less than I offered. I think the price is very cheap for the lot, because it has such a good situation. Now here in Ventura, a place of only 13,000 people, you could not buy a lot situated as that one is for less than $25,000 to $30,000, and it is nearly the same with every city along the coast down here. For instance, I bought a lot one year ago last March for $7,000, and to-day it is worth $25,000. From San Diego to Frisco is all about the same, and Victoria will have her day very soon. Lots of people are talking of going to Victoria soon. There is no place that I know of on this continent where property is as cheap as in Victoria. So why won't she go ahead, with a much better climate than most places? What do the people who hold the lot next to mine want for it? and what is the size of it?

With best wishes, (Signed) P. J. HOBSON.

Los Angeles, July 13, 1926.

Charles S. Austin, Seattle, Wash.

Dear Sir: Glad to hear that you are having another sale of Victoria real estate. Am making every effort to be on hand. I have great faith in the future of Victoria and Vancouver Island, and am well pleased with the investment I made last year.

I consider Victoria one of the most beautiful cities on the Pacific Coast, and has a bright future in a business and industrial way also.

Wishing you every success in your coming sale, I am, Yours very truly, (Signed) W. G. WILLIAMS.

Los Angeles, Calif.

Victoria, B.C., Cadboro Bay Hotel, July 23, 1926.

My dear Mr. Austin: You asked me what attracted me to Victoria and why I have invested money here. My answer is because Victoria is unique. It is the only place of its kind on the Pacific Coast, and offers more in the way of recreation, scenic beauty, climatic conditions and consequently investment opportunities than any other place I know of. The margin between present prices of property and actual value is so wide that one cannot fail to return handsome profits on one's investment.

THESE WOMEN

By MALCOLM DUART

(Copyrighted)

The names and situations in this story are fictitious.

It was the busy hour that, in Seattle, follows the closing of the theatres at night.

Morton was sitting alone in a corner of the Bon Cabaret, with a glass of wine before him, smoking a cigar, and watching the noisy crowd that filled the restaurant.

The orchestra was groaning a dismal "blue," and on the dance floor a group of young men, exhilarated by drink, with their giggling partners were bumping the heavy-footed citizens who tried to dance there too.

A girl came from the opposite side of the room, to ask Morton to join her party. He shook his head in refusal. After a moment's pleading, she went away.

One of his friends, coming past, slapped him on the shoulder, and loudly urged him to have a drink. Morton again declined.

For a while he chattered idly with the proprietor, who hovered near him now and then to make sure that he was well served.

He finished his wine, and the waiter brought another glass. Two young women joined him and seated themselves, uninvited, beside him. He chatted with them, but when they finally perceived that he did not intend to offer them refreshments, they went away.

Each time a new party of visitors entered the door, Morton's eyes glanced toward the entrance.

At last his face lighted. A little blond girl, in extreme evening dress, tripped into the room, and stood waiting for her companion to appear. In a moment Parrish entered, and taking her by the bare arm, guided her behind the waiter to a table by the dance floor.

Morton arose, and tossing a yellow-backed bill onto the cloth, beside his plate, he walked across the room to Parrish's chair.

He tapped the young man on the shoulder. Parrish looked up, startled.

Nodding to the girl, Morton leaned over his secretary, and said quietly, "We'll take the young lady home, now."

Parrish stood up, angrily. "You let me and my affairs alone!" he said, the veins on his forehead distended, his face flushed.

Morton turned to the girl. "Let me escort you to the coat-room," he suggested, extending his arm.

She rose uncertainly, glancing first at her escort, and then at Morton. Parrish pushed her into her seat.

With his mouth close to Morton's ear, he said: "Just because you pay my salary you can't take charge of my life. I tell you to get out of here!"

Morton stepped backward and, with a motion of his head, summoned the proprietor, who was watching the little drama.

"I'm afraid you will not be able to serve this young man and his young lady here," said Morton, suavely.

The restaurant man glanced at the couple at the table.

"Certainly not," he agreed. "We cannot serve you this evening."

The young man's brow was black with wrath. Raising his voice he delivered an ultimatum. "You get a waiter here right away or I'll start in to wreck this place."

The proprietor made an almost imperceptible movement of his hand. Three waiters came alongside and clustered themselves about Parrish.

The dancers on the floor looked at the group curiously.

"We will step outside," the restaurant man proceeded, as if there had been no interruption.

Tropelled by the waiters, Parrish moved toward the door, protesting loudly. The crowd laughed.

Morton, following quietly behind, escorted the young woman.

"Has he been drinking much?" he asked.

"A little," she told him. "He isn't used to it."

Parrish was handed his coat and hat, and was urged up the steps to the street level. The girl calmly took her own wraps and waited for Morton. They left the frantic Parrish on the sidewalk.

"Cab, sir," asked the doorman. Morton helped the girl into the taxi and thrust forward the meter. Then he climbed in himself. Asking the girl her address he gave directions to the driver, and the door slammed shut.

"I quit my job," stormed Parrish. "You can get another lucky to do your errands for you!"

"Shut your mouth, you ass!" ordered Morton, coldly.

He was sitting between Parrish and the girl. Turning to the latter he asked:

"Has he given you any money?" "Just a ring," she told him.

"What business is that of yours?" Parrish roared. "You're not my guardian. It's my money I'm spending."

"Let us hope so," returned Morton. "We'll look into this to-morrow."

He settled back comfortably and absent-mindedly spun his cane between his hands as the cab swung through the dark streets. Parrish had relapsed into a moody silence. At length they drew up before the door of a bare-looking building whose steps sagged with the weight of years. Morton reached into his pocket and drew forth a treasury note.

"Take this for your time this evening," he said to the girl.

She accepted the money and tucked it in her bosom.

"I'm sorry to spoil your friendship, but I'm afraid he can't come out with you again," Morton proceeded. "I'll see you to-morrow night," interposed Parrish.

The girl laughed as she swung on her heel and ran up the steps. "Bye-bye, you poor fish!" she called, as the cab started on.

"She means you," supplemented Morton, grimly.

Parrish moved back into his corner, and sullenly held his peace while they went to his own lodgings.

"Good-night," said Morton, as the young man left the cab.

Parrish did not reply.

Morton was waiting for Parrish when the latter entered his employer's office earlier than usual the next morning.

Standing with his back to the door, Parrish kept his eyes fixed on the floor. Morton eyed him a while, speculatively.

"How much money have you borrowed?" he shot at the young man.

Parrish did not lift his gaze. "Three hundred dollars," he murmured.

"Where?" "From the men in the office here," Morton drew out his pocket check book and filled one of the blanks.

"Cash that and pay them, you infernal idiot," he said, tossing the green slip across to Parrish. The young man stepped forward, took the check and put it in his pocket. He remained leaning against the edge of the table, his shoulders sagging.

"Sold your car, I suppose?" Parrish nodded. "Seventy-five dollars."

"Well, anything else?" "The young man shook his head negatively. "Didn't have anything else to sell."

"How much did you pay for that ring?" Parrish blushed. "Thirty-five dollars. I got it at an auction."

"Real value?" commented Morton. "Well, you're going to pay me back that three hundred in installments. It isn't a gift. About fifteen dollars a week will do."

He leaned back in his chair with his hands clasped behind his head. "What started you on this lark?" Parrish rubbed his fingers on the walnut table, broodingly.

"I got tired of being laughed at," he pulled a chair to him and sat down, with his face turned toward the window. "You laughed at me, and Miss Morton laughed at me, and the chorus girls there at your house acted as if I were a boob."

He hung his head as he continued: "You go out with that kind of girls. He spoke over his shoulder without looking at the older man.

"I do," confirmed Morton. "But I didn't start in life that way. My career is fixed. What I do with my leisure time, at my age, has nothing whatever to do with your leisure time."

Leaning across the table he struck it sharply with his knuckles. "You're going to be a wreck or a success. Are you prepared to stop this idleness and buck up to work and amount to something?"

"I'd better go somewhere else," Parrish said, drooping into his chair. "Miss Morton doesn't like me."

A smile appeared for an instant on Morton's lips, and was gone. "The other defended himself. 'She didn't like the kind of man I was. She showed it in everything she did.'

Morton arose and walked around the table, halting before his secretary. "You were pretty green, weren't you?"

"I suppose so," the young man groaned.

"Look sure of yourself," Parrish was silent. "I'm not to tell other people what they should do and what they shouldn't."

Parrish shifted uncomfortably as his employer went on. "Had a little set of rules of life, which everybody else should live up to."

Morton paused. Then: "Do you wonder that you are tempted to throw you out of the window, myself?"

He turned away and strolled to the window. "But most young men go through that period. You weren't worse than most, I believe," he added.

Parrish, for the first time, met Morton's eye, as the other surveyed him.

"I learned something from those chorus girls at that," he announced. He almost smiled as he went on. "They're so blamed wise! I felt like an infant with them at first."

Morton laughed. "The proper study of mankind is man," he quoted. "And one thing they do study is men."

"We are going to make a lot of money, Daddycums!" said Jingle, one of Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit girls, as she climbed up into his lap.

As he sat on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Such a lot of money!" echoed Jingle, who was Jingle's sister. "We're going to make a thousand pennies, and be rich!"

"How?" asked Uncle Wiggily, gently pulling the long ears of the little bunny girls.

"We are going to make lemonade and sell it from a little wooden stand out in front," said Jingle. "It's a hot day—and everybody that goes past will want a drink of our cold, sweet lemonade."

"It sounds good," said the rabbit gentleman, not twinkling his pink nose this time, for he did it in the story before this, if you will kindly remember. "But it will cost you a lot of pennies to buy the lemons and sugar to make your lemonade. The water won't cost anything but the other things will. So you will have to get what you pay out for lemons and sugar."

"Oh, we aren't going to buy any sugar!" said Jingle.

THOUSAND ATTEND UNVEILING OF DR. RAYNOR MEMORIAL

Impressive Ceremony at Victoria West Drinking Fountain is Dedicated

One of the largest crowds that have attended any ceremony in Victoria West during the last few years was present last night at the Victoria West Park to witness the unveiling of the drinking fountain, erected through the combined efforts of two prominent Victoria West associations, to stand as a lasting tribute to the beloved benefactor of the community.

Not only was the huge gathering, numbering well over 1,000, composed of people of Victoria West community, but a representative attendance from the remainder of the city was present. The children, to whom the fountain was dedicated, were present in great numbers and overran the large playgrounds of the park.

PRESENTED TO CITY.
J. E. Casson, president of the Victoria West Brotherhood, of which Dr. Raynor was the organizer and leading spirit, opened the ceremony with a reference to the great benefit derived by the community through the untiring efforts of the late doctor. He then formally presented the drinking fountain to the city of Victoria represented by Alderman W. Marchant.

C. F. Banfield, president of the Victoria West Parent-Teacher Association, touched upon the work among the children accomplished by Dr. Raynor. He also heartily thanked all those who co-operated with the Victoria West Brotherhood and Parent-Teacher Association in the erection of the memorial.

Following Mr. Banfield's address, Ruth Witter and Clyde Banfield, children of the Victoria West School, removed the veil from the fountain revealing the fine hewn granite pillar.

The unveiling of the memorial was followed by the singing of "O Canada," the voices of the large assembly swelling out with great volume on the still night air.

Alderman Marchant, in a speech, ringing with praise for the beloved doctor, gratefully accepted the memorial on behalf of the citizens of Victoria.

Speaking of the unselfish work done by Dr. Raynor, Alderman Marchant said: "He left a lasting impression upon the minds of the people of the whole of Victoria and will always be remembered as one who led an unselfish and noble life. It is only fitting that his memory should be revered with such a memorial as this fountain, put into the service of the children to whom he devoted a great part of his life."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a number of little girls of the Victoria West School, prettily attired in dresses of green and purple, engaged in an old-fashioned Maypole dance. This was followed by the regular weekly concert of the Municipal Band.

The memorial which Victoria West has erected to serve as a lasting reminder of Dr. Raynor's services is placed at the northwest corner of the playground. It is constructed of hewn granite and has a large silver drinking cup on one side, over which the sparkling waters play. Engraved on the tablet above the fountain is the following inscription: "D. M. Raynor Drinking Fountain, Erected by V.W.B. and V.W.P.A., July, 1926."

TRUSTEES TO FIND TWO NEW TEACHERS

Vacancies in High and Public Schools to be Filled; no Decision Reached

The Esquimalt School Board has not yet selected its teachers to fill the two vacancies in the Esquimalt high and public schools, but a list of applications was considered at the meeting last night. The board has selected several of the candidates as alternatives and will approach them with a view to ascertaining their qualifications. In all probability, it was decided, a special meeting will be called next Monday at which the choice of the board will be finally announced.

There is a post of science teacher vacant at the present time on the high school staff and in the public school, the office of vice-principal having been left vacant by the resignation of the post holder. There is also need of a teacher there. The board has a number of teachers from among whom they will select their instructors.

Applications for these two posts were considered at the meeting and qualifications—judged and considered. The board went into detail in its investigation and carefully combed over all possible teachers with a view to finding the most acceptable and competent persons.

The board was in session until 11:30 o'clock in the work of considering applications and making a judgment and bill of costs received by the board in the case of Miss Farnell vs. Trustees was in hand last night. Miss Farnell was ill and unable to be present the sum awarded to her by the courts was not paid. She claimed the sum of $130 and was awarded $120 in her action against the board for service rendered them.

Modern Pavements Make Feet Tired

The miles and miles of hard surface roadways and sidewalks are very wonderful, but being hard, non-resilient, and excellent conductors of heat and cold, they torture our poor feet unmercifully.

It has been found that if tired, sore feet are bathed in warm water containing a few drops of Absorbine Jr. they will be delightfully cooled and refreshed.

But this is not the only use for Absorbine Jr. It is a liniment, antiseptic, and germicide in one—the handiest, most useful article in the family medicine cabinet.

Not only does it kill germs and prevent infection in open cuts and sores, hastening the healing—not only does it limber up to new freshness, tired, stiff muscles, but as a mouth wash, throat spray or gargle it protects you against wandering disease germs and leaves behind a pleasant, clean taste and odor. $1.25 a bottle at your druggist's—Advt.
